

J. Antidze

The Present State of Machine Translation and Future Perspectives

Abstract

In the presentation will be analyzed obtained results to the direction of machine translation, different approaches, the history, lacks and the future perspective direction. The particular attention will be given to the computer modeling of Georgian language.